March 5.
GRIMBSY FLEET IS NOT COMING

A plan to employ steam trawlers in the cod fisheries on the Grand Banks this season because of an anticipated large demand for salt fish has been abandoned through the refusal of the British government to permit the removal of any of the trawling fleet from home waters, says a St. John's, N. F. despatch. It is expected that the fishing industry will continue to be carried on by schooners.

Practically the entire steam fish- ing fleet of the British Isles is being used in mine laying, minesweeping and coast patrol, it is understood. Many of the small craft have been converted into auxiliary gunboats for use along the Belgian coast, each armed with four light guns. Some are manned by Newfoundlanders.

PEARY'S SHIP FOR FISHING WORK

Admiral Peary's Arctic ship, the Roosevelt, has been sold by Arbuckle Brothers to John W. Sullivan & Co. The Sullivan company is to refit the Roosevelt with oil-burning machinery, and, after other improvements have been made, to sell her to the Bureau of Fisheries of the Department of Commerce and Labor. The Roosevelt will be used in connection with the fisher- ies service in Alaskan waters, and will proceed there through the Panama Canal as soon as the refitting shall have been completed.

LUNENBURGERS GETTING AWAY

Contrary to reports, the Lunenburg fleet of spring bankers will sail with a full complement as before, according to information received here this morning.

Zwicker & Company, who control a large body of the fleet, state that the vessels will all probably get away within 10 days. There have been con- stant rumors that the spring fishery might be considerably smaller this year on account of the scarcity of men due to the enlistment of many of the Provincial fishermen in the King's army for service in the European war.

Fishing Fleet Movements.
Sch. Patriot arrived at Liverpool, N. S., and cleared for fishing.
Sch. Artisan that landed a cargo of herring here arrived at Lunenburg, N. S. Tuesday last.
